Internships and Employment in Digital Arts

In Digital Arts, it is common to complete an internship with a company or an established professional prior to entry-level employment. We recommend that students pursue an internship after completing the course 57101 Projects in Digital Arts. This course prepares you for job-seeking and employment. For information about typical companies and organizations that might hire someone trained in one or more Digital Arts disciplines, see the list below. We also have a job book for current students.

Graphic Design
- Design Firms / Studios
- Advertising Agencies
- In-House Art Departments
- Marketing Departments / Firms
- Printing Companies
- Service Bureaus
- Publishers
- Sign Companies
- Freelance/Entrepreneur

Web Design/Development
- Design Firms / Studios
- Web Design/Development Firms
- Advertising Agencies
- In-House Art Departments
- Marketing Departments
- IT Departments
- Media Departments
- Freelance/Entrepreneur

Multimedia (Print/Web/Video/Animation)
- Design Firms / Studios
- Web Design/Development Firms
- Advertising Agencies
- In-House Art Departments
- Marketing Departments / Firms

Instructional Media
- Schools
- Training Organizations
- Media Departments
- Organizations with Online Training
- Freelance/Entrepreneur

Digital Photography
- Photography Studios
- Stock Photography Companies
- Freelance/Entrepreneur

Digital Filmmaking
- Film Studios
- Video Production Companies
- Organizations with Staff Photo/Videographer
- TV Stations
- Media Departments / Firms
- Freelance/Entrepreneur

Music Production
- Sell Your Recordings
- Digital Audio and/or Film Studios

Digital Arts Program Supervisor: Caroline Orcutt, 505-277-6037, digitalarts@unm.edu

Web: digitalarts.unm.edu